Dr. Zvi Gabbay, the former Head of Enforcement at the Israel Securities Authority, and Etai Mashiah were featured in an article in the Calcalist newspaper in which they gave tips to corporations following recent amendments to the administrative enforcement procedure legislation.

One of their suggestions is to implement an internal compliance program, and the two have co-authored an article ("Internal Compliance Programs: The Challenges Facing the Israeli Regulator") in which they discuss lessons learned from the United States with regard to this practice.
