Partner Pinhas Rubin strongly condemned the delay in approving the gas outline agreement at the Annual Legal Conference.

News

At the 4th Annual Legal Conference of the Israeli Bar Association, Adv. Pinhas Rubin, partner, strongly condemned the delay in approving the gas outline agreement.

Rubin argued that monopoly is not a derogatory word and that monopolies are not illegal "particularly given that it contributes 8 billion dollars annually to the state". Conference participants included, among others, Supreme Court President Miram Naor, Opposition Leader Isaac Herzog, Ministers, members of the Knesset and numerous attorneys.
