

July 4, 2013

Energy conference features Gornitzky's Jack Smith in a panel discussion on the consequences of the natural gas revolution on the Israeli economy and industry.

News

Jack Smith, a leading energy law partner at Gornitzky & Co., participated in a panel discussion on "The Consequences of the Natural Gas Revolution on the Israeli Economy and Industry" at Tashtiot's 3rd annual energy conference in Tel Aviv.

The conference was attended by speakers including Israel's Minister of Energy and Water, Silvan Shalom, and Tel Aviv's Mayor Ron Huldai.

Other lawyers from Gornitzky & Co. to lecture at the conference included Moran Erez and Moshe Krieger.

Key Contacts

Jack Smith
Partner